DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4-8, 10-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reddy (5,626,893).

Reddy discloses a composition containing 85% rice flour and a rice component whose size is smaller than #80 mesh as in claims 1, 2 and 4. (col. 3, lines 12-20, col. 5, lines 20-30, (no. 6, in particularly), col. 25, lines 40-60). The composition is a coating composition because it coats cheese, in order to provide anti-caking functions (abstract). The coating composition is considered to contain a mix of different rice particle sizes smaller than 80 Mesh as in claims 5, 6, and 8 because the reference indicates sizes "greater than 120, as in Table 1, ex. 6, or shows a range as in ex. 3-5. The composition is considered to be "water-dispersible" as the same ingredients are claimed. Greater than 120 as in Table 1 encompasses "smaller in size than 200" microns as in claim 7. The coating composition contains as in claim 10 and 11 at least 15% by weight of the mix of particulates taken together because it is used in amounts of 97% (Table 2, no. 1).

Application/Control Number: 09/960,191

Art Unit: 1761

Claim 12 is to the method of using the rice particles in a rice mixture smaller than mesh size 80. This limitation and the limitations of claims 13 – 22, have been disclosed above. A rice component greater than 200 Mesh as in claim 23 is disclosed in Table 1, under col. 5 and 6, in the use of the range "greater than 120 mesh".

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
